MARYLAND GAZETTE.

MANHEIM, May 7.

THE French, to the number of three or four thousand, yesterday made a third attempt against Franckenthal, and repulsed the Russian advanced posts; they advanced to Bockenheim, within a league of Worms, and returned by the way of Schefferstadt, carrying with them an immense booty. It is hoped, however, that this will be their last attempt, as general de Mollendorff has lately been reconnoitring the ground between Franckenthal and Lambsheim; and we are assured, that the Prussian troops are immediately to form a camp in that quarter.

BRUSSELS GAZETTE.

May 11, at nine o'clock in the evening.

We are at this moment at the very crisis of our fate; in two or three hours, perhaps, we shall receive the intelligence which must influence the future destiny of Flanders; it is known that the engagement before Courtray commenced yesterday at four o'clock in the morning; the cannonading continued till eight o'clock in the evening; but persons who quitted Ghent at four o'clock this morning, and who have just arrived here, are still ignorant of the result. All the particulars, however, which they have been able to learn, are of a favourable nature, though as they are not confirmed by any official authority, we decline at present going into the detail.

OSTEND, May 14.

WEDNESDAY NOON.

Clairfayt has been obliged to retreat—All is confusion here—The 8th and 12th regiments of light dragoons, and the 38th and 35th regiments of foot, were ordered to fall back as fast as possible, and encamp within a mile of Ostend to cover this place. They arrived last night, and began intrenching themselves.

A very serious conflict happened between Bruges and Courtray, in which there was vast slaughter on both sides. It was fought on Sunday, and continued several hours.

The siege of Cambray has commenced. The intention of the French is to effect the relief of that place, believing that should it fall into the hands of the allies, it will be productive of the most serious consequences. For Douay, the next place of attack, they are in great alarm, it being the great foundery for cannon.

Eleven at night.

Our alarm has in some measure subsided. The above regiments have received orders again to proceed on their former destination, from which we entertain hopes that the situation of the allies in Flanders is not so desperate as we at first believed.

Clairfayt, who exerted himself astonishingly, has fallen back to a place called Thielt—several regiments are now on their march to join Clairfayt.

The French burnt a fine village in the neighbourhood of Ypres.

LONDON, May 23.

This morning Mr. Brooks, the king's messenger, arrived with dispatches from his royal highness, the duke of York, dated May 21.

By the same conveyance we have letters from our correspondents in the army. We find as we yesterday stated, that the allied armies under his royal highness had met with a check, in which from five to eight hundred men were killed and wounded, and some pieces of light artillery were lost, report said to the number of thirty.

General Fox's brigade, which was detached from the main force, suffered most.—They were surrounded by the French, but always drove them who attacked them in the front.

The 43d have lost 180 men—the 14th and 37th, about 100 each; but it is supposed that the most of them are taken prisoners. Brevet major Brown of the 14th who commanded the regiment, in the absence of major Ross, was shot through the body and left in the field. Captain Cook who commanded the 37th regiment, Sir C. Ross being sick, was killed. Colonel Ludlow, as we have stated has lost an arm,

Sir William Erskine, who commanded another column, was said to have met with a very superior number of the French at Comines, to which he had advanced. The Hessians who were with him, fought most bravely, and the emperor's troops, who were to join some of the columns, came up opportunely, and obliged the Carmagnoles to retreat.

The above check, by no means so considerable, as it was at first represented, has not had much effect upon the spirits of the British army. On the 20th, his royal highness gave it out in general orders, "That he thanked the troops for their bravery and good conduct in the late engagement with the enemy, who, owing to their great superiority of numbers, and the ground on which they engaged, had obtained some trifling advantage, in their having been obliged to abandon to them some of their artillery; but he trusted that such a circumstance would not dispirit the army he had the honour to command, and he hoped that in a short time, they would repay with interest, any loss they had sustained."

Colonel Craig, adjutant-general of the British army in Flanders, arrived in town this morning.

DOVER, May 21.

By a vessel which arrived this day from Ostend, we learn that an unfortunate affair took place two or three days since. As a regiment of English cavalry were going from thence up the country, to join the army, they were attacked by a body of Austrians and a great many men killed before they discovered their mistake.

ST. JOHN'S, (Antigua) June 24.

The French at Fleur d'Epee have been wonderfully diligent—they have in a short time made a double abbatis, and a double fosse round that fort. A battery of two seventy-four's and a howitzer is erected by Sir Charles Grey at Camp St. Jean, which, on Friday last, played very warmly on the French frigates. General Grey, on Thursday morning landed 3000 British troops at Gozier with two 6 pounders, two mortars of 13¾ inches, and several howitzers, which were to open upon Fleur d'Epee yesterday, and is imagined by this time have made a dreadful havock. The brigands fired so successfully on Sunday night from L'Islet a Cohons that they sunk one of our gun boats, but no people were lost. She was sunk in only four fathom water, and it is said has since been weighed up. The property at Point-a-Petre belonging not only to the captors but to the British merchants, is very considerable, and from the position in which this place stands, it is apprehended the whole must perish.

This is certainly a common cause, succours should be sent from the different islands, for if those republicans succeed, the consequences must be fatal.—Every precaution that wisdom can suggest is taking, and although tedious, the operations of Sir Charles Grey and Sir John Jervis will doubtless be certain and effectual; the enemy being surrounded on all sides.

A vessel arrived this day from Guadaloupe, which brings accounts, that the cannonading had commenced, and that they could plainly discover one of the cannon in the fort was overset by one of our gun-boats.

We can assure the public from good authority, that the ports in Guadaloupe are open to Americans for the importation of beef, pork, salted fish, oil and wet provisions of all kinds—that there is a scarcity of lumber, not a board to be got, and that flour, corn, peale, stock of all kinds, &c. are admitted, and all very scarce in that island.

A fleet for the West-Indies sailed from St. Helen's on the 17th of May, under command of his majesty's ship Intrepid of 64 guns, captain Carpenter, and two forty-fours. There are several transports with troops coming out with this fleet.

HALIFAX, July 5.

Extract of a letter from the bay of Chaleur.

"The Peggy, captain Reed, has arrived here from Dartmouth, but last from Newfoundland. Captain Reed sailed in company with the Jersey fleet, under convoy of his majesty's ship Castor, and informs, that in long. 15, they fell in with 6 frigates, which he saw capture the Major Pierson, Fiott, St. Peter, Neptune, Passibiac, Dumarres, and Three Sisters, with another ship whose name he does not recollect. Captain Reed was ordered to send his boat on board one of the French frigates, which he did with 20 men; but night soon after coming on, he took advantage of it, and made his escape with the remainder of the crew.—As none of the vessels have arrived, we are afraid they have shared the same fate."

NEWBURYPORT, July 12.

BREST FLEET.

A letter from Brest, to a gentleman in this town, dated May 23, 1794, says—"The fleet, consisting of 26 sail of battle ships, from 74 to 120 guns; 10 frigates from 44 to 50, and about 18 sail from 20 to 36 guns, to be joined by sixteen of the line from Concalle-Bay, a port near Morlaix, sailed from this port the 19th instant.

"Letters from Denmark, inform, that the Danes and Swedes have blocked up the Baltic, and all English vessels there taken, and that the English take all vessels they find in the North Sea or Channel, without reserve."

NEW-YORK, July 22.

We hear an express arrived here last evening from Halifax, via Boston, to Sir John Temple, with the particulars of the action in the British Channel, between the English and French fleets; which state, that the English were 28 sail of the line, the French 25 only; that 6 sail of the French were destroyed, and 3 of the English; and that both fleets had returned to their respective ports to refit.

July 23. The paragraph which appeared in this paper of yesterday, respecting the particulars of the naval engagement in the British Channel, we find, upon farther inquiry to be premature:—It was currently reported in the coffee-house on Monday night, and on that credit we mentioned it, but not with an intent to mislead the public, nor give offence to the public character, who it was said had received the information.

A letter from Montreal, dated July 5th, to a gentleman in this city, says, "For this week past they have been carting to Lachine* all governor Simcoe's stores, the best part of which is for his new fort on the Miami. There are four very large field pieces, and 2000 stand of arms for it. They are recruiting here with a great deal of spirit. In two weeks they have got upwards of 60 recruits. The bounty is 15 and 20 guineas.

* The place at which all goods intended for Upper Canada are deposited.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.

We hear from good authority, and with great pleasure communicate, that the French, about the end of March, sent the corvettes Le Fabius and La Difficile to cruise in the latitude of the Canary islands for the vessel in which Muir, Palmer, &c. were to be transported. These corvettes were to be relieved by two others about the beginning of May. Gen. Adv.

By a gentleman arrived from Edinburgh, by the way of Ireland, in the Swift, we are informed that the discontents in Scotland begin to wear a serious appearance. In the beginning of May last, one Ross, formerly concerned in printing the Edinburgh Gazetteer, a popular news-paper, and fourteen other persons, were apprehended, all at the same time, and committed to prison. The charge was that they had been manufacturing and collecting arms of various kinds in a clandestine manner, and for unknown purposes. Some hundreds of muskets, besides pikes and other weapons, with powder and ball, were found secreted; and the quantity of arms would soon have been very considerable. There is no doubt, that the conspirators will be severely punished, if the government lasts long enough to give the lord advocate time for their trial. However desperate the project may seem of a Scots insurrection, yet it is certain that 2000 well armed and resolute men would be sufficient to drive the English government out of the country.

The standing forces in Scotland never consist of more than two or three regiments of foot, and as many troops of horse. The new raised Scots levies are to the last degree disaffected; some of them have repeatedly mutinied against their officers; and all of them are friends to the French revolution.

At present no merchant in Edinburgh is suffered to have more than two pounds of gun-powder in his possession. The insolence of the military, in the late disturbance, at the Theatre, has greatly augmented the number of persons, who judge reform necessary. Gen. Adv.

From the GENERAL ADVERTISER.

FRENCH ACCOUNT of the BATTLE fought May 17th.

From French Papers.

LISLE, May 18.

CITIZENS,

The letter of exchange drawn by the Alpine army on that of the north begins to be duly honoured. Victory is here the order of the day.—The enemy is in full route. Notwithstanding their losses at Courtray, Moncron and Menin, they determined to attack us again, and to use every endeavour to resume their former position.

Yesterday having assembled their troops of the centre, they attacked us in all points. They obliged us to fall back from Point-a-Marque and Lannoy. We retreated in good order. Proud of this first success, they expected by attacking us again to-day to make further progress. It was their object to cut off our communication; but we did not give them time to effect it; we attacked them, and every where drove them back, beat the charge, and our victory was complete.

Adjutant-general Revel fought with the greatest vigour. We took a train of artillery complete, made the garrison of Lannoy prisoners; near 300 Hessians have fallen into our hands. They asked for quarters, we ought not by the laws of war, to have granted it; since the town was taken by assault, yet they obtained it. We shall shew to the world that Frenchmen are only to be feared in battle.

We learn that the enemy opposed to our forces sixty thousand men. The commander in chief just returns from his round with my colleague Richard; I hope ſoon to be able to communicate new victories. We have taken fifty pieces of cannon, the enemy loſt 1000 men. This diviſion needed this victory.

CHODIEU, Repreſentative of the people.

P. S. I learn this moment that the enemy evacuated Point-a-Marque, and has fallen back upon Orchies, conſequently the communication between Douay and Liſle is re-eſtabliſhed.

May 24. We promiſed not to ſuffer the enemy to reſt. We keep good our word. We attacked them yeſterday in all quarters, and every where beat. We have driven them to Tournay and Mount Trinity. The battle laſted fifteen hours, and was well fought. The enemy were conſiderably reinforced, and we retired in good order, having taken a conſiderable convoy on the Scheld. We loſt two cannon that were diſmounted. We took ſeven from the enemy, and 600 priſoners. We ſhall ſoon begin again.

CHODIEU.

Account of this laſt action by the general in chief of the Northern army.

COURTRAY, May 23.

Citizen Repreſentatives,

We fought yeſterday the whole day long. We have driven the enemy beyond the Scheld; we captured a convoy of hay, oats and coal. We carried off what we could; the remainder was burnt. The affair was bloody on both ſides. There has been a great number wounded. We took from the enemy ſeven pieces of cannon, who took two of ours. We made about 500 priſoners.

Traits of courage were numerous; cowardice and treachery in ſome parts injured us. Many ſoldiers left their duty to pillage, which ſo weakened the battalions, that towards evening we were near being driven back.

The right of the army, on the 21ſt May, was near Binche, and muſt thence have proceeded to Mons or Charleroy.

PICHEGRU.

ARMY of the ARDENNES,
Commanded by general FROMENTIN.

BINCHE, May 22.

We have croſſed the Sambre in ſeveral points. Our diviſion acted with concert and ſucceſs. I have taken from the enemy all their travelling hoſpital, a great many ſheets, a conſiderable number of Flemiſh horſes. We alſo have taken ſeveral droves of cattle; I ſend them to Philipville. We drive on the enemy with expedition, and may anticipate ſucceſſes the moſt important. The repreſentative of the people Levaſſent follows us every where; he is always in the heat of action. I expedite this moment 900 carriages that brings us all kind of goods. In a ſkirmiſh this day a chaſſeur had his arm carried away; he ſaid, turning round to an artillery man, "Put the arm in the mouth of your cannon and ſend it back to thoſe brigands."

MOSELLE ARMY,
Commanded by Jourdan.

ARLON, May 22.

We arrived this day at Arlon. The ſmall number of the enemy here did not attempt to reſiſt. I have here a body of troops to protect the march of our artillery and proviſions which paſs through the country of Treves, and of Luxembourg, and I march on.—— Expect great ſucceſſes.

JOURDAN.

NEUFCHATTEAU, May 24.

We have this day taken this poſt. We made ſeventy priſoners, and loſt but five men killed, and 15 taken priſoners. The inhabitants had been taught to believe, that the French pillaged every thing, they have been undeceived. The troops have not pillaged. We are terrible to our enemies; kind to the people.

The van-guard of Beaulieu has been completely beaten by that of the Moſelle army. We took 100 priſoners. I to-morrow march on St. Hubert, and the day after on Rochfort. Our communication is reſtored with Bouillon; it ſoon will be with Givet.

[End of Extracts.]

From theſe details it is evident, that the Moſelle army was upon the point of forming a junction with that of the Ardennes. The laſt mentioned army and that of the North were already united. The ſequel of this vaſt operation will no doubt be ſomething deciſive.

Particulars of the operations of the Southern armies, from the ſame authentic ſource, ſhall ſoon appear, but in the mean time we can aſſure our readers, that, the contradictory account publiſhed in New-York notwithſtanding, the French advance rapidly in Catalonia, that they have taken the important foundery of St. Laurent, the only one in that province, and ſurrounded Bellegarde. In Italy, their ſucceſſes are, if poſſible, more rapid. Mount St. Bernard was carried the beginning of May; and about the 14th of the ſame month, the formidable poſt of the great Mount Cenis, was taken by Dugomier.

The accounts from French papers in this number, are four or five days later from the great ſcene of action in Europe, than any intelligence before publiſhed here. Their conciſeneſs and perſpicuity enabled the reader to form a much better judgment of the ſtate of affairs, than the confuſed manner in which events are recorded in the London Gazette. Theſe latter accounts are the better, however, for a ſhade of obſcurity, as the ſwiniſh multitude ſhould not know how their money is expended and their beſt blood laviſhed.

AUGUSTA, June 26.

Copy of a letter from captain Bowen, of Franklin county, to the adjutant-general of this ſtate, dated June 19, 1794.

On Wedneſday the 11th inſt. major Samuel Nelſon arrived at Boze's ſtation, at the Cherokee mountain, and in a few minutes after he got there, the ſpies of ſaid ſtation came in with a report that they had made diſcovery of ten Indians within one and a half miles of this fort. Major Nelſon, with ſix men he raiſed at the ſtation, ſtarted on their trail, and, at his departure, ſent orders for me to follow him with what men I could raiſe. I accordingly got four men with me, and overtook him on Friday about ten o'clock.— That night our ſpies made diſcovery of them at camp, at five different fires on each ſide of a large creek. The major gave orders that two men ſhould ſtay with our horſes, and that I ſhould take two men with me, and attack one camp that had ſix Indians and a lad, (as appeared afterwards) and he divided the other men at the other four camps. He alloted to attack them in the morning, when light enough to draw a fight, but my camp roſe rather early, and moved into the creek to croſs, but they were no ſooner in the water, than my two boys and myſelf fired, (agreeably to the orders we received) and killed three; with that the reſt of the men fired at every camp; we then charged with our ſwords and piſtols, and ſoon made them break, though not till they raiſed the war-hoop, and fired ſeveral guns. We found they were about 30 in number, and ſuppoſed we killed nine, but could not be certain, as ſome lay in deep water; but, to the beſt of my knowledge, they are that much leſs in number, beſides one priſoner one of the boys brought in.

P. S. We overtook two on the trail, within about five miles of this camp, one we killed dead, the other badly wounded, but got in a ſwamp.

STAUNTON, July 5.

By a letter from a gentleman of veracity to his friend in this town, dated Point-Pleaſant, May 29, 1794, we have the following intelligence: "That on the 17th of the ſame month, the Indians killed two brothers of our correſpondent at Belville, one of whom was a ſpy; that there had been lately killed on the Ohio nine men, and three taken priſoners. Signs of the enemy are ſeen almoſt every day by the ſpies; but have not men enough to purſue them, and guard the different poſts. He further adds, that on the 25th he ſpoke with ſeveral gentlemen, recently from head quarters; who informed him, that on the 10th of May, a number of pack-horſes with an eſcort, ſet out from Fort-Waſhington, to Fort Hamilton with proviſions; they had not advanced above ſix miles when they were fired on by a party of Indians; eight men were killed, and thirty horſes with their burthens, fell into the enemy's hands; we are ſorry to learn, that only one of this ſavage banditti fell a victim to the proweſs of the eſcort. Our out-poſts are the ſame as laſt winter, ſo that it is unknown what part of the tragedy our commander in chief intends to act this ſummer.

BALTIMORE, July 28.

Extract of a letter from Pittſburgh, dated July 19.

"Two days ſince, the houſe of general J. Neville, the revenue officer, was attacked at day-break by a lawleſs rabble, about 80 in number, oppoſed to the exciſe law. After a ſhort conflict they were beat off by the general and his family, ſome of them being wounded, one mortally. They are now aſſembling in great numbers and threaten to deſtroy the general and his property, as well as the office of inſpection eſtabliſhed in that town.

"This moment an account has arrived, that the inſurgents, to the number of 700, renewed the attack laſt evening on general Neville's houſe, which was bravely defended by the general, his family and a few ſoldiers. In the conflict one ſoldier was killed, and three wounded. The inſurgents loſt their leader, James M'Farlane, and others not known, but ſuppoſed to be not a few. They then burned all the houſes, fences and barns, on the plantation. The general is now in town, having made a fortunate eſcape. Major Lennox, the marſhal, was a priſoner, but liberated after many threats. One or two of the general's friends are miſſing; the inſurgents are diſperſed to all appearance for the preſent."

One Guinea Reward.

STEPHEN, (who sometimes is by his connexions called STEPHEN BRADLEY) a black man about five feet seven inches high, and appears to be about twenty-three or twenty-four years of age, a likely plausible fellow, rather of a shining black, ran away from the subscriber, on the nineteenth June last, who has been informed that Stephen has a father, who is a preacher, and lives with Mr. HUMPHREY BELT, near Upper-Marlborough, and that Stephen, also, sometimes preaches. He was brought into Virginia by colonel Mercer, who had him from Mr. Richard Sprigg, near Annapolis, where it is likely he may now be, unless he should be in the neighbourhood of Marlborough, amongst his relations. I will give the above reward to any person who will apprehend and bring home the said negro man.

JESSE DEWEES.

Annapolis, December 4, 1793.

THE Printers earneſtly requeſts all perſons indebted to them to pay off their reſpective balances as ſpeedily as poſſible; this being abſolutely neceſſary to enable them to proſecute their buſineſs, a neglect will compel them to purſue diſagreeable meaſures.

The ſubſcriber purpoſes to attend Saint Mary's county court at the next term, and begs thoſe indebted in that county to be prepared to pay up their arrears at that time; the accounts againſt all who do not comply, will be put into the hands of a collector, with directions to compel payment in every inſtance, without reſpect. Attendance will alſo be given at Port-Tobacco, during the next court for Charles county, and it is hoped all ſums due the Printers in that county will be paid by that time to Mr. J. C. 4X FREDERICK GREEN.

THE ſubſcriber, intending to leave this part of the country in a ſhort time, finds it neceſſary to remind thoſe perſons who are indebted to him on his private account, or as partner with his brother, Dr. JAMES MURRAY, that it is neceſſary their ſeveral accounts ſhould be cloſed in a ſhort time, for this purpoſe he has appointed Mr. JOHN STEWART, at Dr. James Murray's, to ſettle and receive the ſeveral balances that are due, and he is alſo directed to uſe compulſory methods in every inſtance where it may be neceſſary. 10

One Thouſand Dollars Reward.

SOME few COUNTERFEIT POST NOTES of the Bank of Maryland, having been lately diſcovered in circulation, and on tracing the ſame were found to come from the back parts of Virginia, where they have probably firſt iſſued; to avoid impoſition, it is thought neceſſary to give the following deſcription of them, by which they may be readily detected:—

They have the letter D for their alphabetical mark, at the left hand ſide of the note.

The paper on which they are printed is more ſoft and tender, the ſtrokes of the letters in the engraving are in general ſtronger, and have a darker appearance than in the true bills.

The ſignature, Wm. Patterſon, is badly done; the ſtrokes of all the letters are ſtiff and laboured, and appear to be painted over with the pen, as well as the flouriſh under the name.

The value is left blank in the engraving, to be filled up in writing, ſo that the ſum may be more or leſs, at pleaſure.

No true Poſt Notes of the alphabetical mark above deſcribed, have been lately iſſued, and very few are now in circulation.

The above reward of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS will be paid to the perſon or perſons who ſhall diſcover and proſecute to conviction the ſeveral offenders, or any of them, of the following deſcription, viz.

The perſon or perſons who manufactured the paper on which the bills are printed.

The perſon or perſons who engraved the plate.

The printer or printers of the bills.

Every perſon who has acted as principal in any way, in the counterfeiting and uttering the ſaid bills.
